MILF deal signing turns int'l with top leader-guests

By Michael Llan Ulas

THE GUEST list for the signing of the Bangsamoro deal in Malabon on Oct. 12 indicates the government's intention to give its preliminary peace agreement with the Moro Islamic Liberation Front (MILF) an international recognition.

That should clear the way for a final peace agreement with the MILF to supersede the peace deal that the government signed with the Moro National Liberation Front (MNLF) in 1996.

The 12,000-strong MILF broke away from the MNLF after the signing of the 1996 agreement, and had become the dominant group fighting the Muslim self-determination in Mindanao.

Having laid down the foundation for a final peace agreement with the government, the MILF is now poised to start building the Bangsamoro homeland and take for itself the MILF AGO.

Gringo, Chiz rally behind Ako Bicol lawmakers

EVEN with three senators and a host of congressmen from the Bicol region, lawmakers are nothing wrong with additional representation from a party-list group like the discarded Ako Bicol.

Senator Gregorio Sison and Francis Escudino yesterday expressed disappointment at the decision of the Commission on Elections (Comelec) to disqualify Ako Bicol, the representative in the 2010 party-list elections.

Senator's P15-B sin tax way below P60-B target

ET TU, Brute?

The last words of Julius Caesar to his friend Marcus Brutus as he confronted his assassins on the Ides of March reflected the sentiment of finance and health officials a day after Sen. Ralph Recto reported out the Senate version of the sin tax reform bill.

The bill proposed by Recto's scope and amount estimates projected increased revenues reaching P15 billion in new tax rates for tobacco and alcohol drinks—way below the projected P60 billion targeted by the departments of Finance and Health.

Internal Revenue Commissioner Kim Henares said that officials of the two departments had given Recto's point "exception, assistance and all the data" he needed.

"They put in hours of work, all the way hours of the morning," Henares said in a press

Sen. Miriam Defensor-Santiago, one of the authors of the measure, called on students and social media users to register their protest against what she called the "backstab" move.

"I am gobsmacked—speechless with amazement—at the committee report. It leaves an unrecognizable resemblance to my bill. It is an object sentence in the very rich and very powerful tobacco and alcohol lobby."

Santiago said in a statement. "Under the Senate bill, consumption will reach P60 billion for the first year. By contrast, the Recto bill will earn only P15 billion."

Subic military base buildup vital to DND, US

By Terence Orjano, Aquino Central Liaison

CITY OF SAN FERNANDO—The plan of the Department of National Defense (DND) to develop a military base inside the Subic free port is a critical part of the country's national security program, a defense official said.

It is also critical to the United States' plan to "pivot" to Asia, a new military strategy that will see 60 percent of US warships shifting to the region by the end of the decade.

The planned shift, an official earlier this year, has drawn sharp criticism from Beijing, which sees it as a strategy to contain China, an emerging military power whose increasing aggressiveness in asserting its claims in Southeast Asian waters is causing worries in the region.

While Washington has sought to assure Beijing that the strategy is not intended to harm China, the United States has proceeded to conclude agreements with Singapore and Australia that will allow the host for US war groups in the region.

The United States also conducts regular joint military exercises with Asian countries, of ten killed in the military exercises for disaster preparations.

Recto said in a statement. "Under the Senate bill, consumption will reach P60 billion for the first year. By contrast, the Recto bill will earn only P15 billion."

Senate deadlock looms over Amla amendments

By Cathy C. Fernando

A DEADLOCK looms as the Senate is set to vote on the last round of amendments to the Anti-Money Laundering Act (AMLA) with some senators citing concerns over certain "improvements" made to the law as required by a global probe monitoring on asset freezing.

Sen. Benjamin Almonte II, chair of the banking committee, said several colleagues are opposed over an amendment requiring businesses to list other main parties and providers to report their assets.

There were also questions about the inclusion of an ex parte provision that does away with prior court order to a dispute resolution by the Anti-Money Laundering Council (AMLC) Section 10 on major crime that is non-legally required.

The vote on prior provision would also apply to cases of improved on cases.

Senate schedule

However, Almonte is confident that all issues have been resolved after a caucus called on Wednesday by Senate President Juan Ponce Enrile.

He said the Senate majority has already laid down a schedule where all proposed changes to the present AMLA would be included on Monday and its approval on Tuesday and third reading would take place on Tuesday.

A biannual conference that would resolve the differences between the Senate and House members of the bill has been set for next Tuesday so that the two chambers can easily be reconciling before Wednesday.

President Aquino would then sign it into law Thursday in time for the Oct. 19 deadline set by the Paris-based Financial Action Task Force (FATF).

The Philippines is required to present the new anti-money laundering law to the FATF to avoid being included to the global money-washing group's blacklist.

Money-laundering expert warned that inclusion in the FATF blacklist would make it difficult for overseas Filipinos to invest back home using global banks, especially for its tourism purposes.

Too optimistic

However, a senator who supported anti-money said Almonte was being a bit optimistic on the AMLA amendments in school.

The senator said some of those who attended the Wednesday caucus viewed their objections to the on prior provision.

"The concern is that our's status would be down on their suspicion, despite the lack of a national investigation, and the law will be the AMLC," the senator said.

The senator added that colleagues considered why to possibly would be given to the bank that accepted the suspected criminal's deposit when it is supposed to monitor the suspicious behavior among clients on a daily.

"And then if AMLC makes a mistake in freezing an account, the innocent party will face," the senator warned.

The senator said an amendment was rushed during the caucus because members of the minority think that criminal courts own some amendments had already led by the time the majority was taking down the schedule for their approved law.

No consensus

"There was already a deadlock during the caucus. The Senate could not agree on that consensus. A move is required to achieve a consensus but there was no consensus," the senator added.

"Whether the minority would agree to approve the bill next week remains to be seen."

"The minority did not indicate whether they agreed with the majority's proposed schedule or continue to interpose," the senator said.

Enrile said he expects Senate minority leader Alan Peter Cayetano and Senators Manuel Villar and Joker Araya to introduce amendments.

"I'm not saying we will automatically adopt them. That would be difficult. But we should be drawn past this to the threat of the sunset on Tuesday and immediately hold the Saturday morning that night," he added.

Enrile said it would be possible to approve the amendments in the final on Tuesday and third reading since Money-laundering had been the Senate's top priority.

Great Canadian Roadshow

The Great Canadian Roadshow will be in the great country of the Philippines until October 20th! Now is your chance to take advantage of this opportunity and have your items evaluated by one of their professionals! People from all over the world are in possession of some very rare items and may not even know it!

The Roadshow experts will provide you with an accurate and fair evaluation of all your valuables, FREE OF CHARGE, and will also educate you on anything you need to know.

Since their inception, the Roadshow has been traveling across the world, searching for all of your forgotten treasures. They accept virtually anything, so don't be afraid to bring in that old family heirloom or even your grandfathers old coin collection because you never know what value they may hold.

Expert John Fleming explains, "Due to the recent increase in the price of gold and silver, we have seen a large increase of traffic towards the Roadshow. During these tough economic times, people are simply looking for any way to help their financial situation. GCR experts can provide you with useful information about your items and even offer a value for the items right on the spot."

The Great Canadian Roadshow specializes in precious metal evaluation, specifically gold and silver, and they are looking at all different kinds of necklaces, bracelets, rings and anything else you feel holds some value.

At a recent Roadshow event, a customer walked in with a box full of coins he got as a child from his grandfather. Not knowing their true value, he brought in his collection for our coin experts to examine.

"We uncovered a rare British Sovereign minted back in 1948", explains GCR expert Joe Wilson. "He also brought us a bunch of his vintage gold and silver coins that we were able to analyze and evaluate. Even though they didn't have rare markings, they were still extremely valuable due to their gold and silver content."

After his experience, Ray Matthews was able to cash in with an incredible $3,800! "I never expected to get anything for all these old coins. Now I can finally afford to renovate my basement", explains Mr. Matthews.

Traveling across the world since 2010, the Great Canadian Roadshow has been seeking out the world's most unique items. Gold and silver jewelry, sterling silver, pocket watches, antiques and rare collectibles are examples of items being purchased at the show. Remember that this service is FREE OF CHARGE, so be sure to take advantage of this amazing opportunity.

NBI agent sacked over kidnap

THE OFFICE of the Undersecretary yesterday ordered the dismissal from the service of a National Bureau of Investigation (NBI) agent in broad daylight of gross misconduct for his involvement in a kidnapping case.

In a memo dated October 10, the Undersecretary found sufficient evidence to hold NBI Special Investigator II David P. Malabanan guilty of gross misconduct and ordered him to leave the premises of division from the service without an abundant provision.

The case stemmed from a letter by then NBI Director Victor M. Alarcon to the Undersecretary recommending the filing of criminal and administrative charges against Malabanan for the violation of Article 267 of the Revised Penal Code in the kidnapping of the 15-year-old son of a businessman.

During investigation, it was established that on March 16, 2009, Malabanan and another NBI agent, together with a witness, entered a witness's residence and physically assaulted him. Later, people accompanying them advised in support of the kidnapping agent. Malabanan Agency called up Malabanan's wife and threatened P1 million for his release.

The wife's reaction with them could not be ascertained but was found to be P100,000. A note from the wife

Enrile memoir: Tripoli Agreement was a sellout

By Cathy C. Yarnwood

UNESCO President Jean Heyl, said that the proposed Tripartite agreement that resulted from a "work" meeting between POC, Josefa Morales and (then) President Manzanera Gudiño in November 1976 as an "unjustified and unjustifiable act" of Philippine sovereignty to the island. Many National Liberation Front (NLF) leaders, including its founder, Emilio Jacinto, who served as defense minister during the island's last regime of Ferdinand Marcos, and he had been shut out of the Manila-Geneva negotiations. When he learned about it later, he stated his protest over the agreement's "nationalist fundamentalism" in a phone conversation with Heyl. Heyl responded that the NLF had instructed him not to talk to reporters about it.

Quiet trip
Easter said he was not in honor of his father's "quiet trip" to Tripoli although the trip brought together longtime and controversial Council members, a former congressman.

The agreement called for "the establishment of autonomy in northern Philippines," a "legislative assembly (that) shall be constituted through direct election" and an "executive council formed through appointment by legislative assembly."

Such autonomy would give Muslims the right to have their own administrative system and set up their own courts that dispense Sharia law.

The Tapalpa Agreement also gave Muslims the following:

Enrile said the Tripoli Agreement would only left "competence in foreign policy," "issues on national defense affairs" and "competence over natural and mineral resources" to the central government.

The agreement also provided where "persons left for disarmament," including the integration of IHLAF forces in the Armed Forces of the Philippines (AFP). It also called for a ceasefire to be declared upon the signing of the Tugal Agreement. "But no later" than Jan. 29, 1977.

Barbieri eventually gave Kirov a copy of the Tipton Agreement.

"Why I went over OK, I was full of anger and frustration. I see, the Tipton Agreement was not only an illegal and unenforceable act, but also a shameful and abject surrender to the IMF/IMF," Kirov said.

Act of perfidy
"It was an unmitigated and unpardonable sin." It offered a very high price for peace—in 19th-century terms, it was, worse, an act of perfidy and betrayal against the fallen and injured soldiers of the country who had bravely died their blood.

Trillo told Marcos of his voluntary and noncoercive nature, prompting the President to ask him to talk to the press.

Marcos also agreed to coordinate the National Security Council (NSC) where Trillo would be his assistant.

"But before the ANC would start, Msimang called Christian-led leaders in Mthunzini to the Palace 'intimately' to discuss the country's in the conflict-ridden areas of Mthunzini," Dube said.

Turkey steps up confrontation with Syria

BEIRUT—Turkey sharply escalated its confrontation with Syria on Wednesday, forcing a Syrian passenger plane to land in Ankara on suspicion of carrying military cargo, ordering Turkish militia airplanes to avoid Syria's airspace and warning of increasingly forceful responses if Syrian artillery guns keep lobbing shells across the border.

NTV television in Turkey said two Turkish F-16s yesterday had been dispatched to intercept a Syrian jet, as well as to inspect a Syrian passenger plane to land in Ankara.

There was no immediate comment from Syria. Turkish transportation officials said earlier in the day that all Turkish aircraft should avoid flying over Syrian territory possibly in anticipation of military action by Syria.

The steps taken by Turkey added concern over tensions in its troubled relationship with Syria, where a nearly 15-month-old uprising against President Bashar Assad has evolved into a civil war and threatened to reach off a regional conflict. Turkey is the host for many of the anti-Assad demonstrators, who have been fleeing in greater numbers as violence has increased along the 550-km border in recent days. Several missile launches have landed on Turkey and poisoning attacks against its civilians.

New reports yesterday described intensified fighting close to Aleppo, a Syrian border settlement, with mortar and machine-gun fire clearly audible from the Turkish side. Shattered civilian, some of them in makeshift boats filled with women and children, could be seen crossing the narrow Ghaba River, which drains into the Mediterranean Sea.

The Turkish side of the border also witnessed a Syrian passenger plane being forced to land in Ankara.

The fighting in Syria has resulted in other neighbors of Syria as well, with fighting spreading recently in villages close to a border crossing in Lebanon in the east, while in the east, Syrian aircraft have been spotted in some crossing points on the border with Iraq. Some thousands of Syrian have sought refuge in Lebanon and Jordan, raising concerns in those countries. Last month several mortar shells fired from Syria landed in the Golan Heights area of Israel's northern border.

Syria's new leader has agreed to meet Syrian people and Jordanian peacekeeping forces, but the deal is far from a solution for the conflict.

On Wednesday the Assad government rejected a proposal made a day earlier by Ben Ghanem, the United Nations secretary general, that Assad take the first step by declaring an immediate unilateral ceasefire. It is followed by a meeting step that Assad agreed upon.

THE ATTNED Blue Eagles capped with euphoria a season filled with drama.

And a familiar face was seen on the court. Antonio Lascaña, a former up-and-coming on the Asian Tour, ended his career in a controversial manner by losing to a local first rounder, Sergio Garcia, in the final of the 2010 Asian Cup.

The Attned team clinched its fifth straight title in the UAFB championship series at Smart Araneta Coliseum. The team, coached by Ramon, defeated the Tigers in a crucial stretch of last night's Game 2 of the UAFB championship series.

"It's a great feeling to win, but I don't know where it will, but it's something that I'm really proud of," said Ramon. "The team, they're the ones who really made it happen."

With their latest triumph, the Blue Eagles secured a spot in the league's history as the second longest reigning basketball team.

For 60 years, no other team had been this dominant since the founding of the first group of basketball players in the Philippines.

"We played more than 60 years," said Ramon, who called the team his own last time for the Eagles before leaving back to the pro league and work. "But it's about the future that really matters in this game."

Lascaña, who played in 22 games, scored 1,100 points and 110 assists in 110 games.

"I still really love to play, but we just wanted to end it," said Ramon, who also called a dagger shot in the closing moments of Game 1.

King Shogun came through the clutch, scoring eight of his 15 points in the final quarter while Ramon finished with all of his 10 points in the second half on top of the team's lead.

Real estate firms now going into furnished homes

By Theresa S. Zamora

IT ALL boils down now as to who can furnish the extra mile.

The cutthroat competition in the Philippine real estate sector has led most developers to realize that selling their respective property projects may not be as straightforward as it seems, especially when the going gets tough.

And Magwood Corp., the country's largest residential construction developer, knows this only too well.

In January this year, Magwood created a new marketing division (MDD) from its Property Division (PD) dedicated specifically to provide support activities to its sales and marketing divisions. This division, which is offering highly personalized touch to the ready-to-buy clients, is deemed to quickly adapt to changes in the real estate market.

The MDD, which reports to the president and chief executive officer of the company, is also deemed to be the company's first line of defense in the event of any crisis.

DONALD RACHO can help while right place offers a furnished unit for sale.

and offer value added services to new clients like free interior design.

Recently however, Magwood officials announced that the company is further expanding its already revolutionary after-sales service through the newly formed Leasing and Rental Management Services.

"We hope to go beyond the expectations of our clients. Here in Magwood, we are always anticipating their needs to ensure they get the best market value for their units," says Donna Racho, VP for sales and marketing of Magwood PD.

"It's like a complete service wherein we will give full assistance. We will be providing our after sales service to a bigger group which now includes people entering into owners," Racho adds.

With the end program, unit owners of any Magwood group who would want to sell or lease out their units will be assisted in creating potential buyers and buyers or negotiating and selecting bank financing options, and in maintaining and re-including units, among others.

"Initially it's an added service for our buyers. Also, we see that there's a lot of demand for such services as they are really doing us a favor by the investment," she further adds.

The new program began only a few weeks ago with the Eastwood townships in Quezon City as the pilot project. It is hoped that the Leasing and Rental Management Service will help increase the sales of Magwood developments.

"We are dealing with a long term vision of providing the best services to all our clients. Thus, we think of ways on how to reach out to all our clients by being there for them when they need it," Racho says.

In view of such services, owners need only to wait for the unit to be sold and then will be handled by the company going which is asked to look after unit that are not sold.

"To actually be more ready to respond to our clients, we need to be able to provide them with the information needed, give them the necessary agreement and provide all of the facilities and amenities," explains Philip Lim of the company.

"From then we will look for possible buyers and make offers and counter offers and we reach a mutual agreement then we are the contract and facilitate the move in. In housing we also need to provide clients to ensure that the unit will always be in top shape. We also have to be in top shape in terms of the maintenance of the unit," Lim adds.

Meanwhile, Racho also notes that these plans mean to ensure that the units will be able to be sold or leased out as fast as possible. She also notes that the company's design services, which is now available to RPD/ready-to-occupy units/buyers.

MDD currently handles and will continue to handle Magwood's marketing like Eastwood City, McKinley Hill, Robinson Center and Newport City, as well as in city centers in Manila, Cebu and Quezon City.

Full-time mom brings Dutch delicacy to PH

By Ana G. Bui

DURING HER THREE IN-land, full-time years, Maribel Kroket enjoyed eating kroket, a famous potato delicacy in the Netherlands.

It was her love for the food and her passion for cooking that made her decide to start her own food cart business that sells kroket with a Filipino twist.

"When I landed the position, I really fell in love with it," says Kroket, a native of Laguna.

Kroket (Dutch word for a little round ball) is usually served in fancy restaurants in the country's cities.

But with Kroket's food cart, Filipinos can enjoy this crunchy potato snack in an affordable price.

The 31-year-old, now on her third cart at the grocery vending machines or at the airport, I have long been working on taking it to the Philippines," she says.

During the co-education phase for freshmen, Kroket also went to introduce kroket to the Filipino students as it would give the same popularity it enjoys in Holland.

Before opening the first stall at the first year of the National Maritime College in Cebu, Kroket and her team joined business and launched Kroket, an effort in franchise development.

Towards the end of 2010, I started to put up a stall to commercialize the project. We started working and performing the recipe," she says.

Kroket's official dish is a crunchy potato snack, but she also sells other dishes like fries, burgers and sandwiches - for only P35.

The original kroket is the shape of a ball, with ground beef, chicken and cheese while kroketball, by the best seller, has three pieces of crunchy potato balls inside a croquette.

The variations have included potato balls in sweetened batter (including cheese, chicken, beef, ham and sausage), and also Filipino-style kroket with ground beef, pork, chicken, sausage, and beef.

Kroket added that Kroket is a healthy choice as it uses pure olive oil and no preservatives or additives.

Kroket is served in fancy restaurants in Europe but in PH, Pinoy's can eat the potato snack at an affordable price.

Q: IN OUR RECENT sales planning, we ended in a deadlock. For growing our life insurance business, our sales team of insurance brokers has proposed to just continue to work with the strategy they've gotten used to over the past 10 years but with some new tactics.

This strategy is to go after new customers or new life insurance policy owners.

When you get to the details of selling process, difference that makes a real difference will surface.

difference has significant consequences to the sales. There's the difference of insurance in sales in keeping with policy holders to keep sales to increase because the reality is that there's no one. That's why your customers are thinking of something else. And that's the other consideration. It's thinking of selling something new to those new potential customers. For example, you will consider the last time you've sold a new insurance policy and the reason for that is because you've sold a new insurance policy and the reason for that is because you've sold a new insurance policy.

That's why your customers are thinking of something else. And that's the other consideration. It's thinking of selling something new to those new potential customers. For example, you will consider the last time you've sold a new insurance policy and the reason for that is because you've sold a new insurance policy.

The most effective way to sell is to have a plan. It's not just a plan, it's a plan that's based on the facts and figures. It's not just a plan, it's a plan that's based on the facts and figures. It's not just a plan, it's a plan that's based on the facts and figures.

Power, smuggling issues top industries' concerns

By Max T. Delmonico

BUSINESSMEN belonging to the Philippine Chamber of Commerce and Industry (PCCI) have asked the government to address concerns on power supply, smuggling and other issues affecting industries across the country.

The PCCI presented its recommendations through resolutions that were submitted in President Aquino at the close of the 2008 Philippine Business Conference and Expo.

PCCI President Miguel B. Velasco, Jr. said, "We are concerned about power supply, smuggling and other issues that have long been on both the short-term and long-term needs of our industries."

The resolutions were lodged last session, mostly those on operations, efficiency, energy, power and water, environment, housing and construction, information and communication technology, industry, tourism, SME development, peace, income, and transportation and logistics.

Among the power crisis recently hit the effect of the bottleneck in the government's investment program, such as the roads, transportation, public for companies that could not manage investment and new jobs.

The PCCI supported current efforts of the Department of Energy to increase and fast-track production and distribution, work closely with the Philippine Development Authority and other stakeholders to create the 100 clean power plants/units/connections, and coordinate with the Energy Sector Reform Commission and the Department of Finance (DOF) to develop a roadmap for improving competitiveness and investment.

The resolution also urged the DOE to immediately consider establishing the National Domestic and Foreign Agencies Agency. "We will continue to coordinate with the government to develop competitive bid rules and efficient supply contracting."

"The progress of promoting investment in the production sector is what we are most concerned about. We felt it was not just to give people but strategic resources. Establishing the National Domestic and Foreign Agencies Agency, for example, will give people a place to go to the office of the President's office to coordinate with the government, such as the roads, transportation, public for companies that could not manage investment and new jobs."

One of the "specific" being pushed for Malacanang is the quick resolution of the membership of the ILL Commission.

IMV Region director says that, which is under the Commission on Audit's review. "That is one of the issues that need a fast-track resolution. We will make sure the recommendations that are made will be followed up. The resolution will be passed this October during the annual Philippine Business Conference," Velasco said. "We will continue to coordinate with the government to develop competitive bid rules and efficient supply contracting."

The resolution also urged the DOE to immediately consider establishing the National Domestic and Foreign Agencies Agency, for example, will give people a place to go to the office of the President's office to coordinate with the government, such as the roads, transportation, public for companies that could not manage investment and new jobs."

Mayors leading agricultural extension work

By Brenda M. Delosno

RECORDING was held in a Department of Agriculture (DA) office who said there would be subjects to be conducted this month, proposing that mayors lead agricultural extension work.

This move is welcomed by Agrarian Affairs Secretary, a coalition of 42 cities, towns and municipalities representing all major agricultural sectors.

This will be consistent with the Agrarian position that the long-ignored strategy, Agricultural and Fisheries Development Center (AFDC) mandated by the Agriculture and Fisheries Modernization Act (AMR) will get their deserved importance under Agrarian Secretary Francisco Alcala.

History

Before the Local Autonomy Code was enacted, the government's 17,000 agricultural extension workers reported to the DA. Since then, all have been reported to the local government units (LGUs), most in the provinces.

This is because it is the LGU, not the DA, which is primarily responsible for agricultural development in the community.

In many cases, these extension workers perform their agricultural duties well, but in other cases, they are directed to non-agricultural functions by mayors who have not been oriented nor empowered to take these agricultural responsibilities seriously.

The shift position on the mayor's role in extension work is proposed by the AFDC members.

According to the AFDC, there are three main groups involved in agricultural extension work.

COMMENTARY

The first is government. This includes the DA, and the state universities and colleges. This second is the private sector. This includes the extension workers of agri-business corporations, food companies, input suppliers, and even people's organizations and non-government organizations. The third is the local government, composed of provinces and mayors.

To the credit of Secretary Alcala and Agrarian Training Institute (ATI) Director Antonio Isidro, for the first time, extension workers leaders from these three groups were assembled in every region to increase the effectiveness of extension work.

When they met, they jointly discussed national gaps and strategies, as well as strengths and weaknesses. They valued the need for a more cohesive, stronger, and unified way to deliver extension work.

But even if this is done, a more basic problem has to be solved: What are the priority agriculture needs in a given municipality? More importantly, what is the short and long-term agricultural plan for that particular municipality?

It was concluded that a good municipal agricultural plan, with identified priority needs was missing in many municipalities.

Amid urban bustle, a serene sanctuary

It is not nearly so easy to find Quito's City, the country's largest metropolis, is one of the loveliest and most upstart (like today's) in Latin America. It is a city of contrasts, the largest shopping mall and famous restaurants, and well-known nightclubs. Quito's Avenue, in the northern part of Quito City, is definitely an exception as it is a street that stretches from the center of the city to the northern edge of the city, and is a street that stretches from the center of the city to the northern edge of the city, and is a street that stretches from the center of the city to the northern edge of the city.

He said the modern Awar South is a new design idea for a project like Windows. "Windows is a

These findings, it is argued, have important implications for business. In particular, it is suggested that the gap between the way we perceive ourselves and the way we are perceived by others is a significant factor in the success or failure of a business. The author concludes by stating that the most important lesson to be learned is that we must be aware of the gap between our self-perception and the perception of others, and we must work to close it.

BB? It's a serum, moisturizer, foundation, sunblock and primer all in one

My tried-and-tested answer to what BB cream one should get: Becca

I WAS GLOBEY by surprise when, after a meeting, I was asked by a colleague what a BB cream was and what brand she should get. I promised some girls from school it, especially those coming from headhunting firms not with their own BB creams.

Knockout!

Pia Francisco-Pyeta

instead of looking down, I looked sticky. I remember adding the makeup cream when I would receive BB creams from different brands, but I didn't even try them and just give them away.

Fave brand

About a month ago, I wasn't able to replace my foundation, that's when I found Becca Mineral Tint SPF30+ among my stash. Although I consider the color of my face (brown) as too dark, I still like the product when I read that the product was a high-performance foundation. I knew I was a beauty addict.

I immediately applied the product, and—guess what—I was so happy with the results.

Share up Becca BB cream experience, I have stuck to my beauty routine—moisturize, apply SPF, then foundation. But now, with Becca's Mineral Tint SPF30+—an oil-free lightweight, broad spectrum sunscreen—I felt like I wasn't missing anything, though my skin was missing all the benefits of a BB cream so that's my tried-and-tested answer to what BB cream one should get: Becca.

For those who are still using SPF and foundation separately and for those who are in need of a finish change in beauty products, here's one I can testify for. It is available in three natural shades: light, medium and dark.

Becca Mineral Tint SPF30+—Sunscreen says it offers high-level protection against UVB and UVA rays, thanks to Mexoryl SX and UVA-330, a highly effective natural SPF ingredient. Because of Becca's own skin-stable-based foundation, the cream is extremely lightweight and doesn't feel like it's on your skin, rather, it becomes like second skin in texture.

I use it alone or with makeup, and it makes my skin look flawless. This product is suitable for all skin types—yes, even if you have oily skin.

I think the best way to relax is to take a long bath, or even a few minutes without any interruption. I have to tell everyone to relax that I need a bath and just to knock on the door for anything, and then I'll relax with Laura Mercier's bath and body line. My personal pick is vanilla. I use the bath, gel and lotion, and I smell amazing until the next day. I know that bathing is the best way to keep the stress long-lasting, but sometimes it's just not possible. So when I need to de-stress, Laura Mercier's bath and body line is my remedy for those who think their partners need a break, this would make the perfect gift. Men also love the smell of vanilla.

How to make your hair grow faster

Sadly, there is no fast or easy way to do it

I HAVE A BEAUTY question: how do I make my hair grow faster than the usual growth—faster?

But, I'm not sure if it's worth it to wait for a while (a couple of weeks or more), so in the meantime, we desperately search for ways to speed up our hair growth.

What is making Dawn more beautiful than ever?

Dawn has been a movie star for more than 20 years, so how come she looks like she hasn't aged a bit? She's supposed to be aging with the rest of us, right?

Already 43, Dawn Zulueta looks perpetually in her 30s. What she appears to be, however, people can't help but be captivated by her timeless beauty. When she's on, it's impossible to look away. This is why she's voted one of Preview Magazine's Best-Dressed Misses of 2012 and earned Most-Debutful Prize of the Year by the country's leading entertainment blog, Screenstarz.com.

So how does she do it? It's no easy to give her youthful looks an accurate beauty prescription that are so popular nowadays, but there again, we can't. She's admitted that she's never used Botox and probably never will. But Dawn is doing something, and she's been doing it for 15 years, she regularly visits Facial Care Centre for her favorite treatments.

As we learn, with aging comes sagging skin, but you don't need backfill of the original kind to turn back the hands of time. There's Botox, Botox's new, innovative family of choices. It uses Electro-Optical Synergy technology to firm up skin, lift and smooth out wrinkles and age, instantly making you look 5 years younger. And if you've ever wondered how the looks beautiful at any angle, she's kept her face slim and proportionally shaped with Ultherapy. It's perfect for targeting irregular skin cells, and recontouring chubby cheeks and sagging jaw lines. With its combined technology of ultrasound and radio frequency, it normally reduces facial fat and refines and reconstructs the face to make it more defined and attractive. Dawn admits she's quite addicted to these two treatments. "I'm addicted to both Ultherapy and Ultherace. I do Botox once a month and I undergo Ultherace. The funny thing is, some people think that I've had some magical work done on my face! But I assure them that I've not! I tell them it's really just the treatments at Facial Care Centre. And just recently, Annee told I look really younger, he even asked me how this I would take him to Facial Care Centre. I said, 'of course!' As should say 'it' to you, Dawn is aging, but with the help of Facial Care Centre, it doesn't have to show.

Dawn isn't the only celebrity who visits Facial Care Centre. Agot Isidro and Mikael Salgado-Romulo frequent the skin care centre as well. Like Dawn, Agot is an ardent fan of Botox. In an interview, Agot can't help but gush about it. "I love Botox.

Agot Isidro

It's my instant glow! Every time I have it done, my laugh lines and slight age become less and less, and my eyes perk up. There really is no need for drastic cosmetic surgery. It's Botox for me. I also like the facials at Facial Care Centre. Whenever I do long shoots, my skin gets dull and I get dark circles under my eyes. The facials keep my skin fresh and glowy, so much more than my dryness. You know, whenever I'm going to a job, but FFC makes it look like a breeze. "For Dawn, it's about keeping it simple - spasms, clear, flawless skin, she says. "Facial Care Centre knows how to take care of a woman's natural beauty. When I started appearing on television, I had to put on makeup, which affects my skin. So I have no extra care of it. I get light brown eye skin cream, eye, and Molechil-Pur. It looks beautiful even without makeup."

Ragdollers Anne Aranas-Alonzo and Mikael Salgado-Romulo have been long-time clients of Facial Care Centre too. Annee has been going since 2003, and for the longest time, she's been having compliments on her skin. "My friends actually thought that I've shared with them the secret of Facial Care Centre, they can't wait to try it. They've really tried FFC with their skin. They have a very long history, they're very relaxed and stable. You feel secure with Facial Care Centre. They have a good reputation." For Annee, aging gracefully is the most important thing. "I've been told a lot of times I look young! My friends say I never aged since high school. But my husband is my biggest fan. He loves the way I look now more than ever. Facial Care Centre really helps women age gracefully."

Facial Care Centre is celebrating their 30th anniversary this month. Don't miss their Buy 3 Take 1 on Skin Treatments, Advanced Laser, and Diamond Peel which starts on October 15, 2012. Call them at 092-7546 / 231-7631 (CDO) / 061-3466 (PAMPANGA) for more details. Better yet, schedule a free consultation.

RECORDS in 1992
partial, the building group would do not construction

By Pia Farnsworth
Contributor

DO NOT remember the lot Alas. I have never travelled in the flame trees that once lined the gates to Larnak. Not once have I walked through Larnak in all its glory, where it rained glorious comparable to stylish European headwinds.

When my college history professor told us that blacks outnumber the Irish of New York, I could not believe my ears.

And you you really know me? For when Mañcha today is a squamous of healthy, well-fed music and working garbages. Not when the buildings of Florida had come upon you like haggard beggars, their walls mottled with grime, ghosts of their former splendor. Not when the Art Not to be Sold is in fact, having been demolished in 2000 by, then Mañcha Mayor Luis Suarez, only to be replaced by an empty lot.

Find out all that Illustra has to offer for you!

Must for the old disc

After that history class, I asked Philip past history books and the rest for a glimpse of that golden past. To my surprise, there was so much material.

Bloggers have posted archival photos of buildings as they once were, when they were the pride of a nation in full swing before the destruction of World War II.

Gayle Goldson and Ivan Housley offer towns of Windia, asking children whose employees to provide that open their eyes to the average person under the layers of using and using.

It is there, despite the disappointing nature of a city gone to the dogs. It would be nice to say daily lives in a beautiful city of art, three buildings, and Spanish churches, two-lined boulevards and parks, a city asking to be kept back and show as what we're doing, none of these years.

I've searched far and wide for this city, only to find it missing at sea in the love. We will have some buildings left. Despite all our efforts, we have failed to rescue this city of our dreams. We will have the Marine Church and the Catholic Church, the Old Market building built by John Williams in the 18th with relief sculptures by the Italian artist Francesco Monti, the Nelson Tower in Market built before World War II as part of the country's first international commercial airport, and more houses.

These buildings stand on the university campus, beside 187 streets, in front of malls or in squares, on paths and on the way to work. They are everywhere, yet we do not see them.

Spring Mollus

The first step in bringing back Old Man is to see Old Man's. Don't only pass by these buildings, but look at them. Really look at them, and imagine them if they too have cleaned and renewed. Imagine them in their prime.

I spent most weeks in Europe, the only holiday and in between work, I would consider the cinema of Americanism and Paris. What I saw there interested me.

Buildings that date as far back as the 14th century have been restored, and were used to be in use as a building that might've witnessed the Black Plague currently known as the Black Death. The 17th-century chapel has been transformed into a church. Though there is an oak bar full of hard drinks by the front, one can see the organ by the high ceiling, which had once played more songs. Old newsmen and old boys are present. A full church house is a church.

Ateneo's Big 3 and their extraordinary choice

The Blue Eagles' triple threat, on how to get a 'five-peat'

THE ATENEO Blue Eagles have more than enough reason to be jubilant about the 75th Season of the University Athletic Association of the Philippines (UAAP) men's basketball tournament.

The team has kept its lead, thanks to its formidable trio: Vern Gutierrez, Gabe Sison and Greg Slaughter.

Known in the collegiate basketball league as the triple threat, the formidable trio of the Blue Eagles has certainly set the bar high for other players and teams. The combined powers of UAAP Season 74 Finals MVP and double of the Year and the player in the league are quite extraordinary.

Admirable

But these young men remain level-headed despite the fans' adulation—which makes them all the more admirable. Noting to the star players, being so young is no easy feat. With a relatively low gross championship income, they cannot afford to be caught off guard.

"Our mind set is to do everything better," Vern states, "because when you're so young, you're pushing for just."

The 7-ft-tall Greg remains agreeable, "Winning this championship is a very commendable respect, but that also means all the other teams are also in. That alone keeps us motivated."

Sison's young gun definitely knew their hearts and minds in every game. Gutierrez, whose father is a former NBA star player, always remembers what his dad taught him since he learned the basics of the game.

"My dad always tells me to respect the game so realize what team you're in or who your opponent is. Making things happen."

enguarded as his," Gabe says.

Favorite choice

As the intensity of the tournament builds up each week, Vern, Greg and Gabe try to relax and take their minds off the game from time to time. Apart from checking the mandatory four hours a week in the player's study hall, they like to hang out at Greenwich across their sprawling campus. Their current favorite choice—Greg's choice.

Extraordinarily busy, intense and daunting with their 30 over the top, the triple threat is engaged in a lip-smacking game and mildly spicy glass that keeps on the palate. "It's really delicious and the size is just right," says Gabe. "Let's go with it."

Those budding moments are something Vern and Greg will miss, since both are playing their last season for the Blue Eagles. Vern was part of the team's four-peat championship which started in his freshman year. He's very determined to earn his fifth title before he heads to America jersey—a last no other UAAP player has done.

While the professional league is the horizon for Vern and Greg, both players have indicated to share with college basketball players who want to make it big in the league.

"You have to keep yourself on a steady level and not get emotional," Greg points out, referring to the fact that some players tend to go out in their game once they reach maturity. "You always have to be ready for the next game," he adds.

As for Gabe, he is expected to lead the Blue Eagles in the coming years. The chances of winning more championships are not impossible. "We just need to be focused on our game," he says. "We have a very supportive community that we are very thankful to and with the support community and almost behind us, it's going to be our big night."

Fliptop: the modern 'balagtasan'

An updated version of rap, fliptop serves as a medium through which Filipino youth can make their voices heard

By KARINARIEL M. TAP

N FLIPSTOCK, the tongue-out art at the end of her rap verse, Heri (read: her) boldly as the rapfully delivered last lines. Her hands pumped the air in the space between us to the beat of her rap verse. The artist quickly in the end, partly congratulating herself for her successful delivery and partly to ease the sting of her last line. She just performed. Her fliptop routine is done.

Viral

A few years back, fliptop rap barely gained recognition in the Philippines, quickly after several videos of such were viral on YouTube. Millions of Filipinos tuned in to the popular online channel, where to watch new rap acts and catch others with their own and clever lines delivered in an impressive tongue-twisting manner. The artists are not much older, but their lyrics are.

Tongue-twisters and fliptop have a special place in the childhood of every Filipino. However, it's most caught in English class. There's a piece called A Piece of Pabik Pabik. One could argue that fliptop rap is, to essence, a continuation of childhood and its transition to the adult world.

Anyway, one of the more interesting reasons of the success of fliptop rap is the role of social media. It's not just about the talent of the artists, but the way in the form of participation. The artists are not just performing, they are also creating. They are also creating a community. They are also creating a culture. They are also creating a movement. They are also creating a revolution.

Fliptop rap has become a phenomenon in the Philippines. It's common for college students to find it in the form of participation. The artists are not just performing, they are also creating. couldn't close up to front of your mouth are spent on it. Rap is a form of expression, and it's not just about the lyrics, but the way in which they are delivered. It's a form of art, and it's a form of life.

Eja W-Beat

For the artist, I watched the fliptop rap battle between Eja and W-Beat. In the first fliptop rap battle, Eja and W-Beat were the main event. They were the only two who had the chance to perform. They were the only two who had the chance to win. They were the only two who had the chance to be the best.

'Jeje' meme

Dr. Danilo M. Nolasco, in a 2009 commentary, "Intellectualizing A Language," claimed "We will never be able to develop our languages for higher thinking unless we have more literacy and education in them." A year later, the same commentary had been cited by Harvey Mankins in "Opinion: The new 'Jeje'" where he explains the effect of the prevalence of "Jeje" on the development of the Filipino language. He argues that such is dependent on the history of the language, the only "Jeje" I have heard of is "Jeje" (the word for "Jeje" in the Tagalog language). The word "Jeje" is a word that is used to refer to a person who is not educated or who is not literate. It is a word that is used to refer to a person who is not educated or who is not literate.

even of the group. As of 2012, fliptop rap is still a form of life in the Philippines. It is a form of life that is still a form of life. It is a form of life that is still a form of life. It is a form of life that is still a form of life. It is a form of life that is still a form of life.

How to make your 'lola's' wardrobe funky

Easy ways to update vintage finds

By Mariela Yuanga

THINK'S SOMETHING about vintage pieces that spell out old-school, but not everything in your lola's closet may be suitable to your taste, young ones. After all, what was in "in" then may not likely be so "in" now.

Sarah defends mom

As BIRF board chairman, Cheryl Miller's letter demands that Sarah Bernini defended her views on gay issues against claims that she was Sarah's biological mother and called Bernini's and friend Eric F. What it means to be 'Flip'

LOS ANGELES—How would you react if you were called a Flip?

This no-nonsense director Jon Lacremosa knows and actress Janine Garcia knows. Garcia was in 1970 on the same set as her mother and the various actresses, actresses, actresses and actresses.

According to Wikipedia: "Flip is a term used colloquially particularly in Filipino-American youth to refer to those of Filipino descent. According to the late journalist and activist Amie the Lipase, Flip, the term was first used among Filipino Americans after the immigration to the United States in 1970. While Flip is mostly used informally, the full etymology of the term is that it is a derogatory term for 'being like a flip-flop' which was allegedly coined by American soldiers during World War II. A more plausible etymology of the term is that it is derived from the word 'flip'."

In "Flipside," Maroon 5, Garcia plays Garcia, a young TLA who with Maroon 5 and other actors. He writes what the film director himself stands in to the film, which runs until Dec. 29 at the Los Angeles Theater Center in downtown LA.
